Obedience

Fizzah Abid Warris

The Obedient Daughter

Laiba was a little girl. She loved her parents very much. Her parents were poor. They once told her, "Never steal. No matter how hard are the times." Once, Laiba was walking down the street in the market.

She saw a beautiful doll. She thought,

"I wish I had enough money to buy this doll." Thinking this, she moved forward. She was sad.

While walking, she saw an old lady drop her purse on the road. The lady did not notice and kept on walking. Laiba ran and picked the purse. She opened it and said to herself, "Wow! There is so much money in it. If I keep this purse, I will be able to buy that blue-eyed doll."

Laiba held the purse and moved towards the toy shop. Suddenly she recalled her parent's teaching, "We must never steal." Laiba thought, "I will be disobeying my dear parents if I do not return this purse." She started running with all her might to catch up with the old lady.

After few minutes, she reached the old lady. Little Laiba handed her the purse. The old lady was very happy to see the honesty of the little girl. She gave her some money as a reward. It was enough for Laiba to buy the doll. Laiba was overjoyed.

Moral: The rewards of obedience are sweet.
